Throw-off

- Use your knowledge, use body language, get contact with delegate&timekeeper&scorekeeper, don't look for small potatoes and conflict with players or team officials

Small talks

Contact with delegate, players, team officials

During warm up, coin toss, time-outs, suspensions, 6m throw, shoot-out's, ... you have time to talk to delegate, players, team officials, timekeeper, scorekeeper

It is very important that they trust you, also you trust them, to get feedback.

When you get their RECPECT, than it is much easier to control match.

Leadership

STARTS HERE (in this room, first contact with other refs and delegates is very important) and ends at the end of the tournament.

It is very important to show your leadership (on and off the court) - your behaviour)

Unwritten rules (how to act, how to stay, how to speak, how to whistle,..)

Building leadership (authority, style,..)

Leadership (graphics)

Smartness

One of the most important quality

All referees in this room know rules of BH, but smartness gives you something more.

Smartness comes in front especially in last minute of period, shoot-out, small talk with players and team officials.

Where to use smartness?

Golden goal, last minute, shoot-out, line,...

- ① Golden goal; be focus on intensivity of play – fouls (they will do everything to prevent goal -> direct red card).
- ② Last minute in period (pasive play, red card).
- ③ Shootout (shot for the win).
- ④ Line (defensive player touches line many times).
- ⑤ Be focus on fouls on specialist and line player.
- ⑥ Coin toss (to build atmosphere).
- ⑦ Small talk
