player education is based on 8 basic pillars

1- give sense to the education system

2- coaching

3. training structures

7. economic organization:

6. Health

5. double project

4. evaluations

1- give sense: specify the values and principles that will guide the education of players, the philosophy of the training project.

3. training structures: defining the structures that will host the detection, training, development, competition including teams from France

4. evaluations: competitions and steps needed to select the best for excellence at every stage.

5. double project: Identify beside the sports course and studies organization adapted to each athlete

6. Health: Ensuring a clear medical monitoring and best traumatological organisation at every step

7. economic organization: budget for the financial, contractual, conventional which allow a good organization beside the players.

8. Official Regulations: Identify between all the partners (clubs, leagues, regions, LNH FFHB) rules that will allow us to perform the athletes to the best level

content and direction

Variety of the forms of training process

The autonomy of the player goes through various contents and forms of training: collective forms with collective tactical criterias, remote work, individualized work, personnalized work...

All of these alternatives are constitutive of player training process,

We must also alternate training and evaluations with the players:
between the national team and the club, between training and competition.
